CLINICAL INTERVENTIONS/TRANSPORT:

An intervention is one of the most important parts of the recovery process because it activates the spirit of change. A'vue will help guide a family or loved one through the intervention process by providing education, support, empowerment, resources and most of all, HOPE. Our Interventionists are clinically trained and skilled in a variety of approaches that can fit the needs of any family.

INDIVIDUAL/COUPLE PSYCHOTHERAPY:

Therapy with A'vue aims to facilitate change and improve the quality of life for an individual or couple. Our strength-based process can help confront barriers that interfere with someone's emotional and mental well-being, which can increase positive feelings such as compassion, self-esteem, love, courage, and peace. Our therapists are expertly trained and have decades of clinical experience.

Emotionally- Focused Therapy for Couples

ADVENTURE THERAPY/COACHING

A'vue will guide individuals, couples or groups through a therapeutic experience that uses adventure activities to translate recovery principles or daily life skills metaphorically. This type of Exposure Therapy draws raw emotion which allows a clinician to teach clients to troubleshoot options and cope with feelings in real-time. Put therapy into action and feel the sensation of recovery.
